

Defending Health Care in 2017: What's at Stake for Massachusetts

With a new president and Congress, the health care gains made throughout the last six years face their greatest threat yet. Congress has voted more than 60 times to roll back the historic progress that has been made to expand health coverage to millions of people in this country and to improve coverage for those who already had it. These proposed changes will put the health—and lives—of countless Bay Staters at risk. Here's what Massachusetts stands to lose if the new president and Congress move forward to upend our health care system:

Hundreds of thousands of Bay Staters stand to lose health coverage

369,000 Bay Staters stand to lose their health coverage.¹

Massachusetts stands to lose $23 billion in federal funding for Medicaid, CHIP, and financial assistance for marketplace coverage.²

Approximately 158,000 Bay Staters who currently get financial assistance to help pay for their health coverage will lose this help and will no longer have affordable coverage options. In 2016, Bay Staters receiving financial assistance saw their monthly premiums reduced on average $190 thanks to this help.³

The now-historically low rate of uninsured people will spike, with the number of uninsured in Massachusetts increasing 273 percent by 2019.⁴

This will reverse the immense progress that has been made to expand coverage. Between 2013 and 2015:

- » The number of uninsured in Massachusetts declined 24 percent.⁵
- » Working Bay Staters: The uninsured rate among working Bay Staters saw a 23 percent decline.⁶

Repeal will end Massachusetts's Medicaid expansion and cause ripple effects across the state economy

411,000 people stand to lose health coverage, most of whom are working.⁷ The Medicaid expansion has extended health coverage to lower-income Bay Staters who hold down jobs that are the backbone of the state's economy—from fast food workers to home care attendants to construction workers to cashiers. Repeal will leave these hard working Bay Staters out in the cold.

Massachusetts will lose billions in Federal Medicaid funding. Over the course of a year and a half alone, Medicaid expansion brought $1.9 billion in federal dollars into the state economy.⁸ The impact of that lost federal Medicaid funding will have a ripple effect throughout the state economy, affecting hospitals, other health care providers, and businesses.

Bay Staters with private health insurance will be stripped of vital protections against discrimination

Bay Staters will once again face a world where insurance plans routinely cap the most they will pay for someone's health care in a year and in their lifetime, effectively cutting off coverage for the sickest individuals when they most need it.

- » Roughly 2.5 million Bay Staters (including 633,000 children) saw lifetime limits on coverage disappear thanks to the ACA's ban on these practices.⁹

Millions of Bay Staters will lose guaranteed coverage of free preventive services, like recommended cancer screenings and vaccines

Approximately 3.4 million Bay Staters with private health coverage (including 655,000 children) and 1.2 million Massachusetts seniors on Medicare will lose guaranteed access to free preventive care, like blood pressure screenings, immunizations, and cancer screenings.^{10,11}

Insurance companies will no longer be required to put Bay Staters' premiums toward care, not profits

Insurers will no longer be held accountable for using people's premium dollars on care and quality improvement or paying back the difference.

- » Bay Staters have received around $62.3 million in refunds from plans that overcharged for premiums since the ACA took effect.¹²

Thousands of seniors and people with disabilities will lose comprehensive drug coverage

The Medicare donut hole will re-open. This will leave Massachusetts' seniors and people with disabilities with a gap in prescription drug coverage and forced to pay thousands of dollars more in drug costs.

- » Seniors and people with disabilities in Massachusetts have saved approximately $325 million on drug costs thanks to the ACA's closing the Medicare donut hole.¹³
- » In 2015 alone, approximately 83,000 seniors and people with disabilities in Massachusetts saved on average $1,039 on drug costs.¹⁴
