

Defending Health Care in 2017: What's at Stake for New Mexico

With a new president and Congress, the health care gains made throughout the last six years face their greatest threat yet. Congress has voted more than 60 times to roll back the historic progress that has been made to expand health coverage to millions of people in this country and to improve coverage for those who already had it. These proposed changes will put the health—and lives—of countless New Mexicans at risk. Here's what New Mexico stands to lose if the new president and Congress move forward to upend our health care system:

Hundreds of thousands of New Mexicans stand to lose health coverage

266,000 New Mexicans stand to lose their health coverage.¹

New Mexico stands to lose $28 billion in federal funding for Medicaid, CHIP, and financial assistance for marketplace coverage.²

Approximately 33,000 New Mexicans who currently get financial assistance to help pay for their health coverage will lose this help and will no longer have affordable coverage options. In 2016, New Mexicans receiving financial assistance saw their monthly premiums reduced on average $212 thanks to this help.³

The now-historically low rate of uninsured people will spike, with the number of uninsured in New Mexico increasing 136 percent by 2019.⁴ This will reverse the immense progress that has been made to expand coverage. Between 2013 and 2015:

- » The number of uninsured in New Mexico declined 41 percent.⁵
- » Working New Mexicans: The uninsured rate among working New Mexicans saw a 36 percent decline.⁶

Repeal will end New Mexico's Medicaid expansion and cause ripple effects across the state economy

235,000 stand to lose health coverage, most of whom are working.⁷ The Medicaid expansion has extended health coverage to lower-income New Mexicans who hold down jobs that are the backbone of the state's economy—from fast food workers to home care attendants to construction workers to cashiers. Repeal will leave these hard working New Mexicans out in the cold.

New Mexico will lose more than a billion dollars in federal Medicaid funding. Over the course of a year and a half alone, Medicaid expansion brought 1.7 billion in federal dollars into the state economy.⁸ The impact of that lost federal Medicaid funding will have a ripple effect throughout the state economy, affecting hospitals, other health care providers, and businesses.

Millions of dollars in state budget relief lost. By providing health coverage to more state residents, the Medicaid expansion has meant that the state has been able to reduce its health care spending on programs like state-funded programs for the uninsured. That's 30 million dollars in state budget relief in 2015.⁹ These funds can be reinvested in other state priorities like infrastructure and education. Repeal will put these costs squarely back on the state.

New Mexicans with private health insurance will be stripped of vital protections against discrimination

Approximately 862,000 New Mexicans with pre-existing conditions like asthma, diabetes, and cancer could once again be denied affordable, comprehensive coverage that actually covers their health care needs.¹⁰

Women in New Mexico will once again be charged more for health coverage just for being a woman.

- » Prior to the Affordable Care Act (ACA), women in New Mexico were charged as much as 10 percent more than men for the same coverage.¹¹

New Mexicans will once again face a world where insurance plans routinely cap the most they will pay for someone's health care in a year and in their lifetime, effectively cutting off coverage for the sickest individuals when they most need it.

- » Roughly 555,000 New Mexicans (including 148,000 children) saw lifetime limits on coverage disappear thanks to the ACA's ban on these practices.¹²

Hundreds of thousands of New Mexicans will lose guaranteed coverage of free preventive services, like recommended cancer screenings and vaccines

Approximately 735,000 New Mexicans with private health coverage (including 152,000 children) and 373,000 New Mexico seniors on Medicare will lose guaranteed access to free preventive care, like blood pressure screenings, immunizations, and cancer screenings.^{13,14}

Insurance companies will no longer be required to put New Mexicans' premiums toward care, not profits

Insurers will no longer be held accountable for using people's premium dollars on care and quality improvement or paying back the difference.

- » New Mexicans have received around $1.8 million in refunds from plans that overcharged for premiums since the ACA took effect.¹⁵

Thousands of seniors and people with disabilities will lose comprehensive drug coverage

The Medicare donut hole will re-open. This will leave New Mexico's seniors and people with disabilities with a gap in prescription drug coverage and forced to pay thousands of dollars more in drug costs.

- » Seniors and people with disabilities in New Mexico have saved approximately $96 million on drug costs thanks to the ACA's closing the Medicare donut hole.¹⁶
- » In 2015 alone, approximately 24,000 seniors and people with disabilities in New Mexico saved on average $1,006 on drug costs.¹⁷
