

Defending Health Care in 2017: What's at Stake for Vermont

With a new president and Congress, the health care gains made throughout the last six years face their greatest threat yet. Congress has voted more than 60 times to roll back the historic progress that has been made to expand health coverage to millions of people in this country and to improve coverage for those who already had it. These proposed changes will put the health—and lives—of countless Vermonters at risk. Here's what Vermont stands to lose if the new president and Congress move forward to upend our health care system:

Tens of thousands of Vermonters stand to lose health coverage

35,000 Vermonters stand to lose their health coverage.<sup>1</sup>

Vermont stands to lose $3 billion in federal funding for Medicaid, CHIP, and financial assistance for marketplace coverage.<sup>2</sup>

Approximately 20,000 Vermonters who currently get financial assistance to help pay for their health coverage will lose this help and will no longer have affordable coverage options. In 2016, Vermonters receiving financial assistance saw their monthly premiums reduced on average $300 thanks to this help.<sup>3</sup>

The now-historically low rate of uninsured people will spike, with the number of uninsured in Vermont increasing 129 percent by 2019.<sup>4</sup> This will reverse the immense progress that has been made to expand coverage. Between 2013 and 2015:

- » The number of uninsured in Vermont declined 47 percent.<sup>5</sup>
- » Working Vermonters: The uninsured rate among working Vermonters saw a 47 percent decline.<sup>6</sup>

Repeal will end Vermont's Medicaid expansion and cause ripple effects across the state economy

61,000 people stand to lose health coverage, most of whom are working.<sup>7</sup> The Medicaid expansion has extended health coverage to lower-income Vermonters who hold down jobs that are the backbone of the state's economy—from fast food workers to home care attendants to construction workers to cashiers. Repeal will leave these hard working Vermonters out in the cold.

Vermont will lose millions in federal Medicaid funding. Over the course of a year and a half alone, Medicaid expansion brought $276 million in federal dollars into the state economy.<sup>8</sup> The impact of that lost federal Medicaid funding will have a ripple effect throughout the state economy, affecting hospitals, other health care providers, and businesses.

Vermonters with private health insurance will be stripped of vital protections against discrimination

Approximately 281,000 Vermonters with pre-existing conditions like asthma, diabetes, and cancer could once again be denied affordable, comprehensive coverage that actually covers their health care needs.<sup>9</sup>

Vermonters will once again face a world where insurance plans routinely cap the most they will pay for someone's health care in a year and in their lifetime, effectively cutting off coverage for the sickest individuals when they most need it.

- » Roughly 215,000 Vermonters (including 46,000 children) saw lifetime limits on coverage disappear thanks to the Affordable Care Act's ban on these practices.<sup>10</sup>

Hundreds of thousands of Vermonters will lose guaranteed coverage of free preventive services, like recommended cancer screenings and vaccines

Approximately 286,000 Vermonters with private health coverage (including 47,000 children) and 131,000 Vermont seniors on Medicare will lose guaranteed access to free preventive care, like blood pressure screenings, immunizations, and cancer screenings.<sup>11,12</sup>

Thousands of seniors and people with disabilities will lose comprehensive drug coverage

The Medicare donut hole will re-open. This will leave Vermont's seniors and people with disabilities with a gap in prescription drug coverage and forced to pay thousands of dollars more in drug costs.

- » Seniors and people with disabilities in Vermont have saved approximately $41 million on drug costs thanks to the ACA's closing the Medicare donut hole.<sup>13</sup>
- » In 2015 alone, approximately 11,000 seniors and people with disabilities in Vermont saved on average $1,102 on drug costs.<sup>14</sup>
